Priorities

- ◆ Before anything else, exhaust family sources
- ◆ Not just the direct line, also collateral lines & even distant lines
- ◆ Stimulate memories – show photographs and documents
- ◆ Offer to share with others
- ◆ Take a digital camera when visiting

Family Sources

- ◆ Can save time & money
- ◆ BDM Certificates, family bibles
- ◆ Correspondence
- ◆ Newspaper cuttings
- ◆ Medals, sporting trophies
- ◆ Photographs

Don't Reinvent the Wheel

- ◆ Has someone already researched the family?
- ◆ Check genealogical research directories
- ◆ Guild of One Name Studies (GOONS)
- ◆ Rootsweb mailing list archives
- ◆ Facebook, Genes Reunited, Ancestry.com, Lost Cousins, My Heritage, World Connect

The Guild of One-Name Studies

... is the world's leading organisation for one-name studies. A one-name study is a project researching facts about a surname and all the people who have held it, as opposed to a particular pedigree (the ancestors of one person) or descendency (the descendants of one person or couple).

Currently, over 2,300 people have registered over 7,850 study surnames with us.

Is your surname registered?

Search

The Guild is a charitable organisation dedicated to promoting the public understanding of one-name studies and the preservation and accessibility of the resultant information. Founded in 1979 in Britain, the Guild has members all over the world, and is widely recognised as a centre of excellence in one-name studies.

The Guild brings together those with an interest in one-name studies and other forms of surname study (such as DNA projects). Many members register a surname so as to embark on a Guild-recognised one-name study and coordinate world-wide activity in studying the surname. Only one person may register a specific surname, but membership of the Guild is open to all with an interest in surname studies, and is not restricted to those who wish to register a name.

PERSONAL CONTINUITY PLAN

for Household/Personal Records

This document is intended as a guide for the maintenance and protection of personal records in the prevention of, or reduction in loss of important information should a disaster occur. It is intended for use by members of the general public regardless of record keeping experience.

There are many personal documents that can be considered important. A checklist has been provided for your convenience containing documents which are essential and documents which are important but not essential. Further to this are a number of suggestions for storing your personal records, these suggestions range in complexity and cost and it is up to the individual to choose the method which will best suit them and their personal situation, however in all cases some commitment is required to maintain the records to ensure you have current and complete documentation stored.

Personal Records Checklist

IDENTITY RECORDS

Copies (photocopy or scanned image) of these records will not be valid but will at least contain all of the necessary information to obtain replacements.

- Birth Certificates for each family member
- Marriage Certificate
- Certificate of Divorce
- Death Certificates
- Drivers Licences for each family member
- Passports for each family member

FAMILY RECORDS

Essential

- Insurance Policies
  - Vehicle/s – Cars, Boat, Caravan, etc
  - Personal liability
  - Property – House and House Contents
  - Specific: Property eg Jewellery, Equipment
  - Life
  - Health
- Health Records or Physicians' names and addresses who have records of each family member.
- Licences to practice
- Family Court documents eg custody arrangements, etc

Non-Essential

- Family Professionals - Create a reference list of the names, addresses and telephone numbers for medical, legal, financial, tax, insurance, investments, property, veterinarian or other important contacts.
- Education & Employment. Even outdated resumes list important education and job experience as evidence of qualifications for certain work, reliability and tenure.
- Your Family Tree
- Family Burial details
- Commemorative items eg newspaper clippings, sporting certificates

LEGAL RECORDS

Essential

- Living will - Keep copy at home with medical records and provide a copy to your solicitor or keep in safe deposit box.
- Will (copy) - Unsigned copy for home reference should questions arise, keep original filed with lawyer or public trustee or in a safe deposit box with access by someone trusted as your executor.
- Durable power of attorney - Gives others the power to make health care or business decisions when you are no longer able to make decisions on your own. Provide to law-

PROPERTY RECORDS

Essential

- Contract or Lease for current Domicile (If renting)
- Titles for any property/ies owned
- Vehicle - Certificate of title and bills of sale, proof of registration

Non-Essential

- Guarantees and warranties - Provides proof of date of purchase to determine service and parts guaranteed
- Household inventories - For insurable items, maintain an up-to-date list. Record item, cost and date of purchase or sale and photos to establish values. Make a copy also for safe-deposit box.
- Instruction books - For reference on use and care

FINANCIAL RECORDS

Essential

- Bank statement - proof of payments for income tax purposes (child support/maintenance payments, child care expenses). Credit cards - Keep a list of names and addresses of issuing company, plus card number, if any. In case of loss or theft notify nearest office of company immediately by telephone or email. Give your name, address, number of card, where and when you think it was lost or stolen, and whether you reported loss to police. Follow up with a letter giving same information.
- Safe-deposit box item list - Revise list annually. For the information of family members.

Non-Essential

- Maintain a monthly budget or accounting book to track spending, income & expenses. Useful to determine net worth.
- Receipts and proof of payment. For accounts that are tax deductible. May also be useful in filing insurance claims to prove value.
- Bank Accounts - Statements. List of accounts and numbers should be in safe-deposit box.
- Tax returns - Keep ALL copies of every tax return. Keep invoices, receipts and accompanying papers accessible for at least seven years.

PHOTOS

Essential

- Family photos - keep a CD or DVD of your favourite family photos (either scanned or digital) so that if everything else is destroyed you will be able to recreate at least a few.

Storage Suggestions for Safe Keeping of Family Information & Records

It is highly recommended that in every suggested scenario below a list of enclosed documents is included which specifies every document that should be in the box, folder, CD, etc. Particularly in the case of the archive box or concertina file should a document have been removed eg your son's birth certificate when he applied for his driver's license, and not replaced you will at least know that it is missing because a note was made of it on the list.

SCANNING

Essential records could be scanned and saved on a CD or DVD. With the exception of Identity Records in most cases an electronic copy is sufficient for proof. If you do not own a scanner there are companies who will scan your information for you for a reasonably low cost.

Make a couple of copies and keep them in separate locations for example keep one at home in a location that allows it to be grabbed quickly in an emergency and then another copy in one of the following:

1. Ask a trusted friend or relative to store one
2. Keep one in a safety deposit box
3. Keep a copy securely at work

SECURE BANK SERVICES

Essential records could be stored, for an annual fee, in a bank using a Safe Custody Service (pocket storage) or in a Safe Deposit Box.

HARDCOPY RECORDS STORAGE

A simple and relatively inexpensive solution is to store your records at home in a safer way, such as:

- Keep important records together
- Store them in a custom polypropylene archive box (water resistant, mould retardant and being poly-propylene do not give off a toxic gas as the plastic breaks down which in turn damages the records)
- Store the archive box in a location which is within the main home, at least one metre (3 feet) off of the ground and can be easily accessed during an emergency evacuation of your home

An alternative to this is to purchase a document sized, fire retardant, metal lockable storage box.

A more complex version of the plastic archive box, although still relatively simple and inexpensive to implement, is to separate your documents into Essential and Non Essential (or any other classification you choose, eg split it into Personal (Family & Health), House & Vehicle, Legal & Financial, Photos) and store each one in a different coloured archive box with the colour of the box representing the importance of the documents and therefore the order in which they should be saved dependant on how much time you have. For example, under this system you may have three boxes which are red, yellow and green, like a traffic light the red one would represent 'grab this box first', the yellow one 'grab this box next' and the green one 'leave this one until last'. In an emergency it is easier to be specific when asking someone else to rescue your records for you if you can say to them 'It's the red plastic box on the centre shelf' and it is the only red plastic box there.

If all else fails, or seems too daunting, a very quick, cheap and simple solution is the Concertina file.

In all of the suggestions made in this document the key to maintaining your important personal records is to make conscious decisions as to what you need to keep, how it is stored, where it is stored and who will be responsible for it if an emergency arises.

The bad news is that this is not a once off task it is a lifetime commitment, at least yearly (tax time would be appropriate since you are reviewing your documents anyway) but in a perfect world every time a document is updated (ie when the new insurance policy arrives) the information contained in your personal records should also be updated.

The good news is that with a bit of effort on your part should the unfortunate disaster occur (and we sincerely hope it doesn't) you will not be burdened with tracking down and recreating every important document that affects your life, property and family and you will be able to concentrate on more immediate issues.

Wills and Probate Records in Australia

Web Sites for Genealogists - An Australian gateway site for tracing your family history by Cora Num

National

Graham Jaunay's site has a How to Locate Australian Wills section that explains what indexes are available, lists relevant addresses and access conditions.

New South Wales

State Records New South Wales Indexes Online. Deceased Estates and Probate include: Updated

- Deceased Estate Files 1880-1923. This index, to the records covering death duties, contains 40,000+ entries from the index to registers of deceased estates. This ongoing project currently covers 1887-1909 with entries being added as they become available.
- Index to Intestate Estate Case Papers. These records relate to those individuals who did not leave a will. The index currently covers the years 1823-1900.
- Probate Packets for 1817-May 1873 (Series 1), 1873-1876 (Series 2), 1876-c1890 (Series 3) and 1928-1945 from Series 4. These can be name searched using Archives Investigator. Click on Simple Search, enter the name (add the word death after the name) in the Keyword box, then select Using 'all words'. The series number, item, name, exact death date and date probate was granted are returned. This information can be used to order Probate Packets from SRNSW (fee applies). For further death information such as registration place and parental details use the online NSW Registry of Births, Deaths and Marriages Historical Death Index Search available to 1980. See Archives in Brief 84 - Probate Packets for further information.
- Probate - Early Records. This index is for supplementary probate records that are not part of the main probate series. It records the name, date, item number and page number. The index to the main probate series is available on microfiche 1800-1985. See Archives in Brief 84 - Probate Packets for further information.

Queensland

Queensland State Archives Wills and Probate indexes include:

- Index to Wills 1857-1930 compiled from original Supreme Court files. It lists names, district, will number and QSA references.
- Instruments of Renunciation Index 1915-1983 lists names, death date, date filed and QSA reference. Renunciations are where the Executor/Executrix no longer wishes to administer the will.
- Trustees Files Index 1889-1929

www.familysearch.org/

FreeUKGen is an initiative to help make more high quality primary (or near-primary) records of relevance to UK genealogy conveniently available online, preferably for free, in a coherent, easy to access and search, facility or set of facilities

FreeUKGen aims to provide the tools and support for its member projects (see below) and to do so in a way that makes good use of present knowledge about relevant computer science techniques, e.g. concerning interfaces, databases, data interchange protocols, and system design generally, and which is technically forward-looking.

FreeUKGen encourages large-scale volunteer effort, and makes good use of it, e.g. by reducing duplication of transcription and indexing efforts, and by facilitating widespread access to the information resources that are produced by such efforts.

FreeUKGen sets the standard for other organisations that are engaged in making genealogy resources available.

Read the FAQ

FreeUKGEN Projects

FreeBMD was the first of the FreeUKGen projects to launch. The searchable database first became available in January 1999, some five months after the ONS gave permission for the Project. Mocked at first as being "too big", it has proved all its doubters wrong, as it moves towards its target of completing the complete index at a faster rate than even the early fans thought possible.

We don't know if FreeBMD is the biggest voluntary transcription project ever, but we suspect it might be!

FreeCEN was the second of the FreeUKGen projects to come on-line. Transcription started in July 1999, and the online database launched in July 2003.

Since the launch of the search engine, a number of counties have been completed, and transcription is continuing at a rapid rate.

FreeREG was the third of the FreeUKGen projects to come on-line. Founded by Rod Neep (of Archive CD Books) in early 1999. The FreeREG search engine went live in September 2006.

FreeREG stands for Free REGisters.

Our objective is to provide free Internet searches of baptism, marriage, and burial records, that have been transcribed from parish and non-conformist registers of the U.K. FreeREG is a companion project to FreeBMD (a database of the GRO birth, marriage and death indexes from 1837) and FreeCEN (a database of census information).

We are in need of volunteers willing to transcribe registers, to make their existing transcriptions available on FreeREG or undertake one of the many supporting tasks. (Follow the link to How to Volunteer for information on how to participate.)

The FreeREG database contains 2,894,137 Marriages, 8,061,440 Baptisms and 5,213,612 Burials. The last update started on Wed 1 Jun 2011 and was completed on Wed 1 Jun 2011.

On Mon 13 Jun 2011 FreeREG users did 23,664 searches. (Details)

If you experience errors while using FreeREG please report them to the Webmasters, indicating what you were doing (i.e. submitting, searching), the URL of the page involved and the exact time (and timezone) where it occurred. If you have suggestions on improvements to FreeREG please make them to the FreeREG Executive. If you believe there to be a problem with any of the data entered into the database please contact the Corrections Coordinators. In your email please include information on the county and place of the record.

On Thursday an inquest was likewise held at the "Black Dog" public-house, Cambridge-street, Rocks, on the body of Richard Walker, who, the preceding morning, between 9 and 10 o'clock, fell to the earth in the yard at the back of the house in which he lived in the above street. He was carried to bed speechless, and remained in that state until about four o'clock the same day. The jury returned a verdict of—"Died by the visitation of God." In the course of the examination of witnesses, it appeared that a man of the name of Thomas Moshier, a poor cobbler living in the same house with deceased, went, between two and three o'clock, to the shop of Surgeon Hosking, and requested his attendance to the deceased, who had grown worse. Upon being informed that the applicant had no pecuniary means of remunerating him, Surgeon H. declined attending, alleging his "business would not permit him." At this conduct the jury, one and all, expressed their indignation in the severest terms language could convey; as it was their unanimous opinion, that had the assistance required been afforded to the individual now dead, in all probability he would have recovered; and this their opinion they requested the Coroner to represent through the proper medium.

Original Correspondence.

To the Editor of the Sydney Gazette.

SIR,—I cannot allow the aspersion thrown out against my professional character in your report of the Coroner's inquest held on the body of Richard Walker, which appeared in your last Gazette, to pass without notice—especially as I consider no Coroner's Jury have a right to call in question the motives of any medical man for not doing what they may consider to be his duty.

In the first place, I have to state, that although the applicant had no pecuniary means of remunerating me, as stated at the inquest, had it been otherwise, I could not have gone at that time to visit the person, having but a few moments returned from a patient whom I could not have left for any length of time. Finding I was engaged, why could not the messenger have sought other medical assistance? and, moreover, it would have been useless had I gone, as I have heard since that the man was dead before he returned home.

The Australasian Association of Genealogists and Record Agents (AAGRA) was founded in 1977. It aims to offer the services of reliable and competent genealogists and record agents to those wanting professional family history and genealogy services and general record searching. AAGRA members carry out research in all parts of the world, such as British Isles, but specialise in:

Australian States and Territories:

- Australian Capital Territory (ACT)
- New South Wales (NSW)
- Norfolk Island (NFI)
- Northern Territory (NT)
- Queensland (QLD)
- South Australia (SA)
- Tasmania (TAS)
- Victoria (VIC)
- Western Australia (WA)

New Zealand:

- All regions

The Genealogist (G) manages research projects and compiles family histories and genealogies for clients. The Record Agent (RA) specialises in the research of specific records and/or the holdings of specific archives. Search our Member Directory now!
